1000 ISLANDS ENVIRONMENTAL CENTER
2017 TREE SEEDLING SALE

The 1000 Islands Environmental Center is holding a tree seedling sale to offer landowners, homeowners, and other individuals the opportunity to improve and protect the environment while beautifying and increasing value of their property. Proceeds of the sale are used to fund educational programs conducted by the 1000 Islands Environmental Center. All tree seedlings are bare root seedlings. Please note that while the Environmental Center makes every effort to ensure tree health, we do not offer any guarantees.

EASTERN WHITE PINE (Pinus strobes): Soft bluish-green needles, 3 to 5 inches. Grows well in most average to moist soils. Excellent ornamental if sheared light. Also good windbreak and timber species. Can grow more than 100 feet in height.

10 seedlings per bundle.

WHITE SPRUCE (Picea glauca): Grows to 70' tall and 20' wide. This is the one recommended for heavy soils. It is a fast grower and the number two selling Christmas tree. Provides winter shelter for wildlife and food for woodpeckers, pheasant, and many other varieties of birds. Great as a specimen in your yard. Deer resistant too!

10 seedlings per bundle.

RED OAK (Quercus rubra): Large, fast-growing tree for lawns and open areas. Grows 60 to 75 feet in height with a spread of 40 to 50 feet. Dark green foliage varies between russet-red and bright red in autumn. Produces acorns attracting birds and wildlife. Prefers well-drained sandy loam soils.

SUGAR MAPLE (Acer saccharum): One of the best large shade trees. Slow to medium growth rate, 75-100' in height. May have orange or red fall color. Yellow flowers. Prefers well-drained, moderately moist, fertile soil. Although shade tolerant, full sun needed for proper development.

WHITE OAK (Quercus alba): Rounded, broad-rounded or upright rounded when mature. Height: 60 to 80' tall. One of the most attractive oaks. Slow-growing. Small, elongated acorns. Prefer full sun, acidic soil. Showy, purple-red long lasting foliage.
